

2012 Anne Wexler Master's Scholarships in Public Policy

Applications for 2012 scholarships
open 1 July 2011 and close 30 September 2011

Two Anne Wexler Scholarships will be awarded annually. One for an Australian citizen to complete a U.S. Master's degree program in Public Policy, and one for a U.S. citizen to complete an Australian Master's program in Public Policy areas.

Areas of study may include health, sustainability, energy, climate change, regional security, political science, history, or government relations, amongst others.

The scholarships will be awarded for a maximum of two years, depending on Master's program, benefits include:

AUD30,000	Annual stipend for up to two years
AUD25,000	Annual tuition for up to two years
AUD 5,000	Return travel allowance
AUD 6,000	Establishment allowance
AUD 4,000	Insurance allowance

The scholarships are administered by the Australian-American Fulbright Commission in Canberra, and funded by the Australian Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations. The Anne Wexler Scholarships are part of the Australian Government's Australia Awards Program.

For more information:

www.fulbright.com.au

Administered by the Australian - American Fulbright Commission