

THE NOEL AND VIVIAN LOTHIAN SCHOLARSHIP 2012

Applications are invited for the Noel and Vivian Lothian Scholarship to support a student studying towards an honours degree or a research Masters or Doctoral degree. The scholarship recognises the contribution to ornamental horticulture of Mr. Noel Lothian, former Director of the Adelaide Botanic Gardens, and is to be awarded in his particular area of interest, that of development of Australian native plants for ornamental horticulture.

Value of Award: approximately $4,000 for a maximum of one year (dependent on interest earned in the previous year)

The scholarship is tenable in the fields of native plant biology and ecology or native plant horticulture at the University of Adelaide. For postgraduate applicants, the scholarship may be awarded as a supplement to an Australian Postgraduate Award or other major scholarship. Award of the scholarship is subject to acceptance for enrolment as a full-time student or higher degree candidate.
